Nihil legebat quod non excerperet. Plin.

SIR,

IT is not always that you can fill your Paper with what is even in the vulgar Senſe called News, but you may by making Collections from good Authors, and ſuch as have treated their Argument freely and impartially in a plain and perſpicuous Manner, diffuſe a Spirit of good Senſe among your Readers, and inſpire them with a Love for ſound and cloſe Reaſoning, from ſuch Principles only, as are evidently true; the want of Regard to which, has been the Foundation of all the Errors and Miſchiefs relating to human Life. You may by this Means make them acquainted with the Imployments of the polite, as well as buſy Part of their Species; with Matters antient and modern, natural, civil and religious, with Things domeſtick and publick, with animate and inanimate Nature; and above all Things, you may be inſtrumental in leading them into a Knowledge of themſelves, by exciting them diligently to obſerve and ſtudy the Operations of their own Minds.

Such an Acquaintance with Things, will be of excellent Advantage: It will aſſiſt Men in the Exerciſe of their Reaſon to argue juſtly and conſiſtently, and not only ſo, but it will furniſh them with a rich Store of proper Thoughts and Arguments on all Occaſions.

It will ſecure a Man from perpetual Admirations and Surprizes, and guard him againſt that Weakneſs of ignorant Perſons, who having never ſeen any thing beyond the narrow confines of their own Dwellings, wonder at every thing that is new or ſtrange to them: And indeed it would be impoſſible to enumerate all the Benefits and Advantages that flow from an univerſal Acquaintance with Things, which may be acquired by reading good Books. But I do not recommend much Study as proper to the Generality of your Readers, who perhaps find ſufficient Wearineſs of the Fleſh, from the neceſſary Buſineſs of Life: Yet if uſeful Knowledge be thus diſperſed among them, from your Paper; if they can from thence be furniſhed with Inſtruction, without the Fatigue of turning over Volumes; How great an Obligation will you lay on the whole Province! while for a trifling yearly Salary, you ſupply them with ſuch a Stock of Knowledge, as could not otherwiſe be purchaſed, but at the Expence of large Sums of Money, much and various Reading, and a great Length of Time.

Nor need you be at any great Trouble to become this General Inſtructor, ſince it will only coſt you the Reading of Authors in the Engliſh Language, and following the Example of the learned Perſon in my Motto, who made Collections from every Thing which he read: Theſe Collections, publiſhed in a proper Method, will undoubtedly improve your Readers in ſound Senſe and Knowledge; and for your Encouragement, let me tell you what a celebrated Writer has aſſerted; That many Perſons, from a good Choice of Engliſh Authors, with the Aſſiſtance of their own natural Parts, reaſon and diſcourſe more pertinently on many weighty Topicks, than ſeveral pompous Scholars who are Maſters of the learned Languages, and have read over many bulky Folios of Science; the Reſult of all their ill-digeſted Studies having furniſhed them with little more than the Knowledge of what other Men think in controverted Points, and a Habit of magiſterially impoſing on their Hearers what they themſelves do not underſtand.

If you think that Extracts from good Authors will furniſh proper Entertainment for your Readers, let me lay before you my Notions of the Duty which I think a Collector of ſuch Pieces owes the Publick.

He ſhould be careful to copy from ſuch Writers as have expreſſed their Thoughts in the cleareſt and plaineſt Manner, that Perſons who have not been trained up to uſe the barbarous Terms and abſtruſe Notions of the Schools, may learn to philoſophize with a moderate Application of Mind: And herein he ſhould act without regarding what is faſhionable, or unfaſhionable; or what Cuſtoms, or Opinions, are generally prevalent in the World, or eſpouſed by any Party in particular.

He

He ſhould no more wink at or countenance Falſhood knowingly, than he would recommend a notorious Vice; that thoſe who, for Want of Leiſure or Capacity to examine, depend on his Integrity, may never be abuſed, and implicitely receive Error inſtead of Truth.

The Readers of ſuch a Set of Lectures as is here recommended, will not find it very difficult either to apprehend or give their Aſſent to ſuch Truths as may be advanced therein, on any Subject.

From thence may they learn to make a ſober, ingenuous and manly Uſe of their Underſtandings, and thoſe Powers which the ſupreme Being has beſtowed on them, or to think freely upon all Occaſions; which ought to be encouraged as the main Support of Virtue, and the beſt Security of the Liberty and Property of a People: And by a ſerious Attention to ſuch Pieces, in your Papers, moſt of your well-inclined Readers, will, I hope, be diſpoſed to lay aſide, one after another, the more groſs Prejudices in Life, whether they be imbibed or conſtitutional, for the Sake of Virtue and Truth, in which alone the Mind of a rational Creature can acquieſce.

All that I propoſe by putting you on this Method, is, to give the Publick a more elegant and uſeful Entertainment than your Paper has generally afforded them; from whence will accrue this Satisfaction to my ſelf, (the greateſt indeed, which can ariſe to an honeſt Man) that I have endeavoured, according to my mean Ability, to promote the Good and Happineſs of my Country; and pointed out an eaſy Way of opening, by gentle Degrees, the Minds of my Fellow-ſubjects, ſo as to make them capable (even among the Avocations of a laborious and buſy Life) to comprehend thoſe Principles, by which alone a Man of Integrity can act in Society, at all Times conſiſtently with himſelf.

I have here practiſed what I adviſed you to do, and collected a great Part of theſe Thoughts: If you approve my Propoſal, and at preſent want Leiſure to proceed therein, I can undertake to ſupply you with Materials for at leaſt one Month, which ſhall be at your Service, upon Intimation that ſuch Collections will be acceptable to you.

I am Yours,

No. 1. The PLAIN-DEALER.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Petersburgh, Sept. 10.

THE Deputies of the Academy of Arts and Sciences of this City, nominated by the Czar to take the Level of the Waters in the Northern Provinces of this Country, ſet out laſt Week for Archangel, and from thence they will proceed to make their Obſervations in the neighbouring Provinces, to know whether it is not poſſible to dig a Canal, which, by the falling in of ſome Rivers, may open a Communication between the White Sea and Caſpian. If this Deſign can be brought to Perfection, we may expect to ſee Archangel one of the moſt conſiderable Places of Trade in Europe; but at the ſame Time their Gain will be our Loſs. Some Days ago, an Expreſs arrived here from Moſcow, with important Diſpatches for Count Munich; and proceeded immediately for Ingermerland, where that General is reviewing the Forces, as Captain General of all the Provinces taken from Sweden. Our laſt Letters from Moſcow adviſe, that a Drogman (or Interpreter) was arrived there from Conſtantinople, with important Diſpatches relating to the preſent Situation of the Affairs of Perſia; and that all the Caravans were not yet ſet out for China, becauſe they could not obtain Leave to bring in ſome Merchandizes from that Country, by which they propoſed to get a great deal of Money, but not without doing conſiderable Damage to the Manufactories already erected in Moſcovy, or any that may be erected there for the future.

Rome, Sept. 23. Laſt Week the Congregation de propaganda fide was extraordinarily aſſembled, upon the Receipt of ſome Letters from China, whereby they were informed that ſix of their Miſſionaries, and ſome Catechumens that were related to the Emperor, had ſuffered Martyrdom. Cardinal Barberini's Mother who is Ninety-two Years of Age, received the Viaticum and Extreme Unction the 12th; but was ſo well the next Day, that ſhe went and heard Maſs in the Church near her Palace. The Farmer General of the Poſts had a Deſign to oblige all the ordinary Couriers of Crowned Heads to alight at his Office and deliver their Letters, which he would take Care to ſend according to their Directions; but he found ſo much Trouble in the Execution of this Deſign, that he dropt it. The Arguments made uſe of to diſſuade the Pope from the Journey he had reſolved to undertake to Bologna have determined him to go and ſpend Part of the Autumn at Monte Mario, the Air of which Place agrees mighty well with his Health. The Marquis of Ormea, who is charged with the Affairs of the King of Sardinia, has preſented the Pontiff with two Ribbonds of the Order of the Annunciada; one for the Duke de Gravina, his Holineſs's Nephew, the other to be diſpoſed of as he pleaſes. Some Days ago as the Labourers were digging in the Vineyard of Mathei upon Monte Eſquilino, (or Monte de S. Maria Maggiore) they found four Brazen Statues of Heathen Gods, an Urn of the ſame Metal, and a ſtately Chryſtal Vaſe curiouſly wrought.

Vienna, Octob. 1. Our Advices from the Frontiers are unanimous that the Turks continue their military Preparations; that the Janizaries breathe nothing but War; and that the Tartars have lately made ſeveral Inroads into the Imperial Territories. Baſil, Baſil, Octob. 9. N. S. Some Letters adviſe, that ſeveral Italian Princes were entring into an Alliance, to hinder the Settlement of Don Carlos in Italy.

London, Octob. 18.

Friday ſen'night a mad Bull ran one of his Horns into the Neck of a Woman in Long-lane in Smithfield, by which ſhe ſoon expired.

Nov. 22. We are informed, that his Majeſty has been pleaſed to order 800 l. to be paid the Honourable Morgan Vane, Eſq; who brought the agreeable News of the King of Spain's ſigning the Treaty; and that his Majeſty has alſo been pleaſed to order 200 l. to be paid Mr. Bineham, one of his Majeſty's Meſſengers, on his Arrival in England.

Letters from Dublin by Yeſterday's Mail, bring Advice, that the fine Seat of Sir Guſtavus Hume, Bart. in the County of Fermanagh was burnt to the Ground, and none of the Houſhold Goods or any Thing elſe ſaved. The Loſs is computed at 14000 l.

They write from Dublin, That the Lord Mayor and Court of Aldermen of that City had directed their Recorder to proſecute certain Juſtices of Peace for illegal Practices, and that the ſaid Proſecution is carried on at the Charge of that City; for the Good of the Publick. We are inform'd, that there is found at Bann-Bridge, two Miles from Loughbrickland, and ten from Newry, a Vein of Coals, and they are now ſearching for the Body.

We hear from Norwich, That the Convicts who lay in the Caſtle there for Tranſportation, knock'd down the Turnkey, and three or four made their Eſcape; ſo that yeſterday only nine Men, and a Woman (who cut off two of her Childrens Heads) were ſent from the Caſtle; and two Men, a Boy, and a Woman, from our City Goal, were ſent forward in a covered Waggon, for London.

London, Dec. 1. This Week we had an Account from ſome curious Gentlemen, who had been again to ſee the great Aloe at Hoxton, (mentioned formerly in our Gazette) of their new Obſervations upon that Occaſion; by which it appears, that notwithſtanding the Advance of the Winter Seaſon, there are ſeveral Things worth Notice, which happen even every Day in the Progreſs of Nature in that extraordinary Plant. For Example, 1. They obſerve, that the Plant continues to go on blowing upwards, although the lower Bloſſoms are gone off and gone to Seed, as we formerly mentioned. 2. That it is apparent the Plant will perform all that was at firſt promiſed from it, viz. by blowing up to the Extremity of the Top Branches, and that notwithſtanding the inclemency and uncertainty of the Seaſon. 3. It is now apparent, that every Bulb or Pod, which (as has been ſaid) followed the Flower or Bloſſom, is full of Seed, the like having never been ſeen in England, or in any of theſe Northern Climates. The Seed already ſhews it ſelf, lying in long Beds or Receſſes, like the Seed of the Tulip, or rather like the Grain of the Indian or Virginia Wheat, and not unlike in Shape, though much finer and ſmaller. The Seed may be viewed by the Curious, and will afford a great many very nice Obſervations. It is not doubted but the Plant will ſupport it ſelf, and live through the Winter notwithſtanding its great Multitude of Branches, though none of the other Plants which have blown in England have ever done ſo: And if it does thus ſupport it ſelf to another Spring, it will certainly ripen the Seed which it has now prepared, as above; in which Caſe it will ſurpaſs all the rare exotick Plants that ever were kept alive in theſe Parts of the World.

Boſton, March 23. Upon a Report, that divers Perſons Inhabitants of other Towns, have lately come into this, and procured the Small-pox to be Inoculated on them; and that many more intend to do the ſame: A Petition ſigned by a conſiderable Number of Freeholders and others, has been preſented to the Select-men, praying that the Town may forthwith be convened, to conſider of ſome effectual Method to prevent a Proceeding which is judged to be ſo highly unreaſonable, and injurious to this Town.

On Wedneſday laſt died Mr. Joſhua Wroe, Merchant, of this Place, after a long Indiſpoſition; and on Saturday laſt was decently interred.

Medfield, in N. E. March 10. This Day a Marriage was celebrated between an aged Couple, viz. Mr. Joſeph Medcalfe, a Farmer, in the 73d Year of his Age, and Mrs. Hannah Fiſher in the 75th of her Age.

Perth-Amboy, April 4. On Tueſday laſt died Mr. Robert Atkins, Merchant, he went to Bed very well, and was dead in the Morning.

Philadelphia, April 9.

From New-York we hear, That the Merchants and principal Traders of that City, to the Number of 74, have ſubſcrib'd to an Agreement, and publiſh'd it in the New-York Gazette, by which they oblige themſelves to take Pieces of Eight, Half-Pieces, Quarter-Pieces, or Ryals unclipt, at the Rate of Eight Shillings and Ninepence per Ounce.

The Agreement concerning the New-Caſtle Money, firſt publiſhed in our laſt Week's Papers, has already given a ſenſible Addition to the general Credit of that Currency, and will doubtleſs effectually accompliſh the End therein propos'd.

On the DEATH of Mr. AUSTIN PARIS.

LET gloomy Groves, let awful Rocks and Hills;
Let penſive Shades, low Vales and purling Rills;
Let flowing Streams, from every Fountain's Head,
Come weep in Verſe, the lovely PARIS dead.

Let antient Oaks, and every verdant Pine,
And whiſpering Cedars in the Chorus join;
Their trembling Leaves and bending Branches ſpread,
To mourn with me the lovely PARIS dead.

His skilful Hands no more the Forceps hold,
In beauteous Forms the ſtreaming Braſs to mould;
His Art unactive lies, his Genius fled;
His Friends all mourn the lovely PARIS dead.

If Senſe and Learning, Judgment good and ſtrong,
If all the Beauties of the Roman Tongue,
Could Life preſerve, it had not now been ſaid,
Our Friend is gone, the lovely PARIS dead

His mortal Part to Parent Earth reſign'd,
He now remains a pure etherial Mind
Aſcending ſwift, to ſhining Regions fled:
Then mourn no more the lovely PARIS dead.

Advertiſements.

Juſt Publiſhed,

ALL the LAWS enacted laſt Seſſion of Aſſembly. Printed and Sold by the Printers hereof, Price Two Shillings and Six-pence.

We have the Pleaſure of Publiſhing the following Agreement concerning the New-Caſtle Money, which the Publick will be glad to ſee. The Thanks of all concern'd in Trade are due to thoſe Gentlemen who have taken the Pains neceſſary to bring an Affair, which has given ſuch general Uneaſineſs, to the preſent promiſing Situation.

WHEREAS divers Acts have been paſſed in the Lower Counties upon Delaware, for the Emiſſion of PAPER MONEY, a conſiderable Part of which in the ordinary Courſe of Trade is daily brought into this Province; And although the Credit thereof ſubſiſts on an equal Foundation with that now current in Pennſylvania, yet its Circulation here has been in a great Meaſure unhappily ſtopt, to the Diſcouragement of Trade, and Breach of that good Agreement which ought naturally to ſubſiſt between the Inhabitants of thoſe Counties and thoſe of this Province, upon a Pretence that the Bills of Credit there iſſued, will not diſcharge the Engagements of the Loan-Office of Pennſylvania. Yet inaſmuch as the Receiving a Part of the preſent Currency of the ſaid Counties in all Payments, will be no Inconveniency to the Borrowers here, and to the End that the Value of the ſaid Paper Credit may be kept up, and the true Deſign and Intention thereof, (viz. that of being a Medium of Commerce) fully anſwered; WE, whoſe Names are underwritten, have agreed, and do hereby promiſe and oblige our ſelves, every Man for himſelf, that from and after the Fifteenth Day of January Inſtant, We will accept and receive in all Payments of Money now due, or hereafter becoming due to us, on any Account whatſoever, one fourth Part thereof in the Currency of the ſaid Counties, as the ſame is now eſtabliſhed and ſtands limited to the Sum of 12000 l. and what yet remains circulating by Virtue of the former Acts paſſed in that Government: Promiſing further to do what in us lies towards aboliſhing all Diſtinctions between the ſaid Currency, and that of this Province. Dated at Philadelphia, the Firſt Day of January, Anno Dom. 1729-30.
